COMMENTARY

Market Review

- European smaller companies fell sharply at the beginning of February on sovereign debt concerns in Spain, Greece and Portugal. As the fourth quarter earnings season progressed generally in line with expectations the market recovered as investors sought attractive valuation opportunities.

Fund Activity & Outlook

- Stock selection in several sectors contributed positively to Fund performance during February, most notably consumer discretionary, materials and telecoms. UK broadband provider Virgin Media was a key contributor to performance, rising by 14% over the month thanks to better than expected earnings. Danish logistics provider DSV contributed negatively with a 13% decline on concerns of margin pressure.
- We increased our position in UK insurer Lancashire Holdings, which is experiencing better than expected price increases in the renewals season, and Pohjola Bank for exposure to its profitable property and casualty insurance business and declining credit losses. In the energy space we switched out of Seadrill which we consider fully valued and into Aker Solutions, a construction business well positioned to win a number of new contracts in 2010.
- Despite the market correction based on macro concerns, at a micro level we are able to find interesting investment opportunities in the small cap space which are trading at attractive multiples and have the capacity to surprise positively.
